Commission aide hired; Sherrod launches probe

By LAURIE TELFAIR

Now it's official. Carroll Wilson, former city editor of The Canyon News, has joined a select group of Texans holding a relatively new and hazily defined job in county government.

Randall County commissioners, in open session, Monday hired Wilson to become the county's first assistant to the commissioners court after they met in executive session to discuss the position.

Meanwhile, District Attorney Randall Sherrod says he is going ahead with an investigation of the manner in which the job was created as a possible violation of the state open meetings law.

The creation of the job was disclosed last week by a newspaper story announcing Wilson for the post.

A storm of criticism broke out and commissioners did not announce the position at the commissioners court meeting a week ago as had been expected.

Instead, on the advice of Sherrod, commissioners spent the week formulating specific duties for their assistant.

Wilson's new duties were outlined following the executive session Monday:

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall on his own initiative or in response to specific requests of the Commissioners Court, gather and compile information relevant to matters pending before the court, including such information as budget status, product information, statistical data, etc. Where such information can be obtained from any county department, the assistant shall work with the discretion of the department head in obtaining the information.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall act upon requests as liaison between the department heads and the court and shall aid any department head in bringing matters before the court when requested to do so by the department head.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall review and analyze all state legislation enacted or under consideration by the legislature which may affect Randall County or the court and shall regularly report on such legislation to the court.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court may coordinate the activities of any appointed county boards and act as liaison between the boards and the Commissioners Court when so instructed by the Commissioners Court.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall handle correspondence to and from the court as the court may request.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall assist in arrangements of court meetings, activities and travel when so instructed by the Commissioners Court.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall familiarize himself with all grants and funds available to Randall County departments, and aid, if requested, in the preparation of applications for such funds and grants.

*The Assistant to the Commissioners Court shall perform special studies on any matter requested by the Court.

Wilson will be paid $13,200 a year and have a car furnished.

Several persons at Monday's meeting questioned the commissioners about the new position before the executive session was called.

Mrs. Mary Parker directed several questions to commissioners.

"What is the background of your thought for an administrative assistant?" she asked.

John Fulgenzi answered: "There are a number of legislative bills that occur that we're not aware of, that just hit us. Maybe an administrative assistant could red flag these things."

Jim Fletcher continued: "There are some federal grants that may be good for us. And joint purchases would help. He will work with the department heads to research their problems."

"Who conceived the idea?" Mrs. Parker asked.

None of the commissioners would claim parentage. The idea had been around for two or three years and just grew, they said.

Mrs. Parker also said she thought it would be better for the county to have full-time commissioners "and pay them their worth" instead of having an administrative assistant.

John McCann, speaking after Mrs. Parker, said, "You may have been thinking this for two or three years but this is the first we've heard it. It just came out. Who was considered? I don't think it is the normal procedure to keep it in secrecy and then just spring it."

Sherrod said he had had a number of complaints about the new position and the manner in which it was created.

Should Sherrod's investigation reveal what he believes to be a violation of the open meetings law, it is unlikely that he will bring charges.

Instead, Sherrod said, he will present the matter to the grand jury just as he did with the allegations earlier this year that the city commissioners held an illegal closed session. The State auditor, WT ask probe of dept.

Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod confirmed Tuesday he has been asked by West Texas State University officials and the office of the State Auditor to investigate possible misappropriation of funds in a WTSU department.

Sherrod would not, however, reveal which department nor the names of the individuals involved.

He said he has received letters from WTSU and the state auditor's office seeking an investigation.

"We're looking into the matter," he said. "We're not able to tell right now whether there is any possible violation or any charges will be filed."

Sherrod said the investigation will center on a specific WTSU department and will examine "possible misappropriation of funds or misuse of reports."

Sherrod said he is not sure at this time whether any charges will be filed in the matter.

Auditors from the state auditor's office have been on the WTSU campus for at least a month in a routine annual audit of the university's books.

Hermas Miller, financial vice-president had no comment on the investigation Wednesday.

Miller said he has not been informed of what specific department the state auditor's office is concerned with.

The investigation is the second in four years aimed at some segment of the university by the district attorney's office.

Three years ago, a Randall County grand jury launched an investigation into university financial affairs and met behind closed doors for more than six months on the issue. A subsequent grand jury returned a signed report alleging that no improprieties were uncovered during the investigation.

Firm files suit against county, airport over shooting incident

The owner of an airplane allegedly damaged as area law enforcement officers attempted to halt two men stealing another airplane at Tradewinds Airport early this year has filed suit against Randall County and the airport.

The suit, filed in 181st District Court here, seeks nearly $3000 in damages as a result of the incident.

It was filed by Tulsair Beechcraft, Inc., against the county and the airport and alleges both defendants acted negligently in handling the airplane theft incident which occurred on Jan. 28, 1976.

Two men pleaded guilty in May to theft over $10,000 in connection with the incident.

Larry D. Wallace pleaded guilty to the charges on May 21 and was assessed a five-year prison term. Ricky L. Streu pleaded guilty to the charges on May 20 and was assessed a two-year prison term.

The men had been arrested by Randall County officers working with other area law enforcement officers on Jan. 28 after attempting to take off in a stolen airplane at Tradewinds Airport. As the two tried to gain the air, their plane was pelted with bullets and the plane allegedly damaged other aircraft at the airport.

Tulsair Beechcraft says in the suit it owned an airplane which was damaged "through the negligence of defendants and Defendant Randall County's agents, servants and employees. . . ."

The firm alleges that the airplane suffered damage when it was run into by another airplane and struck with bullets fired by defendant's agents.

Randall County and its agents were negligent in the incident, the suit says, because the agents failed to prevent the commission of a criminal act at a point in time that would have avoided any and all damage to the plaintiff's aircraft; because the agents fired their weapons in a dangerous manner that resulted in damage to the aircraft; because the agents failed to exercise reason-

15-year bond schedule to save CISD $100,000

The Canyon school district will pay off a $2.9 million bond debt recently approved by voters in 15 years it was decided Tuesday night.

Board members voted to approve a 15-year bond pay-out schedule presented only tentatively by Bob Davis, financial advisor with Underwood, Neuhaus and Co.

Davis recommended the 15-year schedule as opposed to a 17-year schedule also be presented for review. Both were figured on a hypothetical 5.75 per cent interest rate, a rate Davis told board members he believes they can beat when the new CISD issue is sold in mid-August.

Davis said the 15-year-schedule is probably more attractive for the local district because it will save more than $100,000 in interest payments over the life of the bonds.

However, he noted that with a 17-year schedule, the tax requirement for the payments would be lowered somewhat after 1986.

Total interest which will be paid under the 15-year schedule should the district receive an interest rate of 5.75 per cent would be nearly $2 million. Under the 17-year schedule at the same interest rate, the interest would total more than $2.1 million.

The tax rate which will be required to service the bonds will be about 33 cents each year for the duration of the issue, under the 15-year schedule if a 5.75 per cent interest rate is received.

School board members generally agreed, though, that with anticipated growth in the district it is unlikely that the district can go another five years without another bond issue to construct more new schools.

Dr. Dudley Moore noted, for example, the likelihood of as many as 5000 persons coming into the district as a result of the opening of a new Owens-Corning plant north of Canyon, and related industrial development.

Development is expected to be enhanced south of Amarillo, too, simply because the CISD is building a new elementary school at Sundown and Western Street.

Several board members and school staff members are to travel to New York City this weekend to meet with representatives of bonding firms to update the district's bond rating, which is currently classified as "A."

In other business Tuesday night, the board received a surprise from the City of Amarillo, an official of which has written that the extension of city utilities to the proposed new elementary school site south of Amarillo will cost more than twice as much as anticipated.

Harry Bozeman of the city's water department wrote board members that total cost of extending water and sewer lines to the site will be $181,200.

Of that amount, he wrote, the Hospital tax rate to remain as is

The board of the South Randall County Hospital District voted Monday night to hold the line on the district tax rate this year.

The board's action leaves the tax rate for the year at 28 cents per $100 on 51 per cent of valuation. The board last year had hiked taxed from 25 cents to 28 cents.

No new taxes would be needed for the coming year, Administrator Ray Grimes said, because the hospital district budget, which is figured separately from the general operating budget of the hospital itself, anticipates a cash surplus of nearly $21,000 for the upcoming year.

Grimes presented a tentative district budget of about $135,000 for board review.

The budget calls for the district to begin the year with a surplus balance of $14,000 from current year operations. A total of $141,000 is to be collected in taxes and interest income should add $2500.

Primary expenditure for the district budget is bond principal and interest payments totalling $75,100. A $13,700 expenditure is anticipated to provide the district's subsidy to Metropolitan Ambulance Service which is now providing ambulance service for Canyon and rural Randall County areas.

Building and equipment is budgeted $12,000 in the tentative proposal. Indigent care and a contingency fund each total $10,000

"TEXAS" sound-light crew involves locals

Three members of the sound and light crew for the summertime musical drama "TEXAS" are long-time Canyon residents.

Crew members from Canyon include Keith Laycock, Pat Jarrett and Marc Guy. All three have worked in the sound and light booth for the show during several seasons.

Pat Jarrett, who is the son of Mrs. Robert Jarrett and the late Dr. Robert Jarrett, is in charge of the crew and has been on the sound and light crew since the theatre's opening. He is making a career out of light and sound design through a firm in which he is a partner, Illumeneering. Among works of the company have been the sound and light plan for the theatre at Stone Mountain, Georgia. The company also did the sound and light plans and designs for the new theatre in El Paso where the new musical drama, El Paso Del Norte, opened to a full house and enthusiastic reviews on July 4.

Also raised locally, the two other "TEXAS" sound and light crewmen are Keith Laycock, son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Laycock, and Marc Guy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Duane Guy.

Chamber picks firm for study

Chamber of commerce officials have decided to recommend that a Corpus Christi consulting firm be hired to study potential industrial sites around Canyon.

Chamber Manager Roland Black said the chamber will recommend the firm of Harland Bartholomew and Associates be hired to perform the study, which is to be funded through a $5,000 grant from the federal Economic Development Administration.

Black said completed paperwork on the chamber's application for the funding, which includes the chamber's recommendation, has not yet been sent to the EDA regional office in Lubbock for review. But, he said, the paperwork should go in later this week.

The firm bid $5,000 to perform a study of four possible industrial sites around Canyon as well as related questions concerning the impact of industrial development on the city and city services.

Six other firms also bid for the job, but Black said the Corpus Christi firm was selected because of its experience in performing industrial site surveys.

Full funding for the survey is not assured by the EDA, but officials have said it is likely. Even if full funding were not approved, a partial grant might be awarded.

Black said the chamber recommendation is not necessarily binding on the EDA, which might choose another of the firms.

Gross sales

Gross sales in Randall County for the first quarter were $71,478,335, figures compiled by the Comptroller's office show.

Gross taxable sales were $22,519,166 reported from 599 businesses in the county.

Sales taxes for the second quarter returned to the city amounted to $5,236.97.

Drama's author in audience as 2,095 view deer onstage

Paul Green, the author of the spectacular musical drama, "TEXAS" attended performances in the Pioneer Amphitheatre here on Friday and Saturday of last week.

The author and others attending those performances encountered a special evening as the show recorded its largest attendance of 2,095 people present.

The second surprise for the "TEXAS" audience was the unexpected entry of a deer and a fawn on the stage, during the Dugout scene. The deer suddenly appeared, stood calmly in front of Quanah's rock and looked steadily at the audience for several seconds, and then was joined by her fawn.

Both stood still awhile, looking at the audience, then slowly moved out of sight.

This has been a year of celebration and recognition for the show's author, Mr. Green, as several communities planned their Bi-centennial activities to include Mr. Green's work.

Fayetteville, North Carolina, revived "THE HIGHLAND CALL," a story of the Highland Scots in North Carolina during the Revolutionary period, which had played there back in 1939. The drama played in an indoor memorial theatre from February 26 through March 14 and its season opened with a tribute to Paul Green from the Governor of North Carolina and with a party in his honor attended by representatives of his shows from all over the nation. Ten shows authored by Green are in production this year.

In Ohio, Green was presented with a doctoral degree for his work in presenting the history of the Moravian people in "THE TRUMPET AND THE LAND."

Two new Paul Green musical dramas are opening this summer. The first being "THE LOUISIANA CAVALIER" in Nachitoches which opened on June 20, and is the story of Luis Juchereau St. Denis, a strong and magnetic character who lived and explored in and around the earliest city in Louisiana and across the border into Texas during the early 1700s.

Green's second new show this season is, "WE THE PEOPLE," the story of George Washington and the events leading to the adoption of the United States Constitution. It will play in the Merriweather Post Pavilion in Columbia, Maryland from August 6th through September 5th.

CJHS gets chance at "pool" Friday

Canyon Junior High School students will be having a "pool party" Friday evening at the Conner Park swimming pool.

Sponsored by the Summer Recreation Ad Hoc Committee, the party for junior high students will feature music for poolside dancing as well as a concessions area to be open throughout the evening.

The event, which is one of several sponsored for city youth this summer, will be held from 7:30 until 10 p.m. at the city's swimming pool. Lifeguards will be on duty throughout the evening and committee members will sponsor the event.

Admission will be $1 per participant for the overall activity which is designed especially for those who will be seventh, eighth and ninth grade level for the coming school term.

A review of the summer's youth oriented projects will be conducted at a general community meeting next Thursday evening, July 29, for which parents, students, and summer recreation committee members are encouraged to attend. The review meeting will be held in the offices of the Canyon News beginning at 7:30 p.m. that evening.

New law may shield utilities from cities

If the new Texas Public Utility Regulatory Act does indeed take power from the cities to cancel a utility franchise for any reason, it is news to Canyon's city manager.

"If that is the case now, it is a different interpretation than it has been in the past," Glen Metcalf said. "But I don't believe everything I read in the paper. I'd have to check with Bill McMorries (city engineer). He is my expert on utility matters."

Utility Commissioner Alan R. Erwin and Texas Municipal League special utilities counsel Don R. Butler recently said that the new law is written in a way that will give the utility the right in perpetuity to serve any city it is serving at the time the law takes effect.

If so, a city could not cancel a utility's franchise, even though the utility may not be delivering adequate service.

A thank you to city folk

A great big thank you is due the Canyon residents for their consideration when the city water billing machine broke down, said financial officer Marguerite Strain.

"They were so cooperative," she said.

Water bills were not sent out at the first of June because the old machine was sidelined waiting for a small, expensive part.

June bills have just been run this week and July bills will be made out at the end of this month.

Businessmen address class on market

The West Texas University economics course, "The Market System: Does It Work?", will wind up its last week of classes with a series of businessmen speakers on a variety of topics.

Speakers on July 20 and 21 dealt with the energy crisis, with representatives from Pioneer Natural Gas Company and Southwestern Public Service Company appearing.

On July 22, the speaker will be Don Gilley of the First National Bank on the problems of agriculture.

Jim Whyte of the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing Company will discuss pricing problems on July 23, followed on July 26 by William N. Lampe of Pioneer, Inc., who will look at government regulation.

The final speaker on July 27 will be Wes Savage of the Amarillo National Bank, who will analyze the problems of growth.

The course, sponsored by the WTSU Center for Economic Education, was designed to acquaint public school teachers with the free enterprise system.

"We want to give information about our economic system to those people to enable them to be better informed and to pass it on to their students," said Dr. Allen Early, course instructor.

Cousins reunion held for several

A reunion week end for cousins was held this past week end in the Canyon area. The group of cousins attended the Saturday evening performance of the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon and on Sunday were gathered at Thompson Park in Amarillo for a picnic dinner, rides, games and fellowship.

Family members together for the week end were especially honoring cousins Mr. and Mrs. Teman Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Weaver, who came from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Local and area family members participating included:

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown of Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilcox, Happy; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller and Kevin; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Reynolds; Gay, Tracie and Greig of Tulia; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collier, Janice, Carla, Marla, Edwina and Lottie, Wildorado; Sharon and Carol Ann; Willa Dean Cox and daughters, Jo Ann and Terry, grandson Jason of Grand Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Neeley, Kerry Rogers and Ginger Keeling; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ball, Susan and Mike of Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watson, Shelly and Gaylon; Deena Fluty; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reynolds, Jamie Selinda and Dwayne, Leigh Smitherman; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wilcox and Matthew; Debbie and Mitch Newkirk; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Weaver; and Tammy and Terry of Dawn.

City goofs on funds

A bookkeeping mistake was blamed for a single incident of non-compliance with federal revenue sharing guidelines as the annual audit was presented Monday night to city commissioners.

The money, approximately $20,000, was paid from the revenue sharing funds for interest on loans for the civic complex construction.

The interest payment should have been made from water and sewer funds instead, said city manager Glen Metcalf. Revenue sharing funds may not legally be spent on interest, he said.

The city repaid the revenue sharing account from the water and sewer account, Metcalf said.

In a three-minute long executive session held at the beginning of the meeting, the commissioners raised Metcalf's salary by $1,000 to $17,500 a year. They also reappointed Ken Olson to the planning and zoning commission.

Olson had resigned the week before but in the meantime found that he would be able to continue to serve on the board.

Trip was nice but it's nice to come home

By
FARRIS ANN MORRISON

DID YOU EVER stay gone forever in three weeks?

It is so nice to be back home. As my husband's brother and family were preparing to go back home, they asked me and the kids to go back to Parker, Arizona with them.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it — and so do its readers.

Little suspecting how it would be, we went. How does 119 degrees sound? Well, how about cooling down at night to about 105?

The Colorado River is near so we went swimming every day. Parker is about thirty miles from Havasu, site of the London Bridge. Aside from the heat, it was lovely.

After Lewis, my husband, joined us, we went to Los Angeles to visit his sister, brother, (his mother was out there, too) and "do" Disneyland, Lion Country Safari, Knott's Berry Farm, etc. It was at least cool!

Wall to wall cars on the freeways; we even got a "hook 'em Horns" sign from a California driver on the Santa Ana Freeway.

Nice to go, nicer to be back.

NOW THAT I'VE told you about me, let me tell you about you.

MY GOOD FRIEND and neighbor Cherry Winters has always before exhibited good sense. This past week, however, she was one of five Gene Howe counselors in charge of sports at Camp Akela.

Really, I'm only kidding; she said the boys were just terrific, and she had a wonderful time. Camp Akela, held at Camp Don Harrington, is the Cub Scout Day Camp.

Carol Triplett, Sarah Edwards (who was sports director), Phyllis Hicks, and Pat Seth all helped out with the sports portion.

180 boys attended from 9:30 to 3:30 and took part in activities such as swimming, crafts, nature trails, archery, BB guns, sports, rowing, and fishing.

The cool weather must have helped a great deal to add to the success of the camp. Sherry Cates, as I understand, was the Camp Director and put the whole thing together.

This camp was an experiment and will be conducted as an annual event. The boys were in groups of ten with a "Chief," a qualified Boy Scout who led their activities.

The fifteen qualified Scouts were working towards Service Project achievements. Forty mothers and ten other helper Boy Scouts completed the staff.

Awards voted by adults were to Chris Seth, best scout for the Arapaho tribe; Jay Edwards, who not only was the best marksman of the Arapaho tribe, but of the whole camp. Bobby Winters was voted best sport in his tribe, the Blackfoot; John Hicks was best sport in the Arapaho tribe. These last two awards were voted by the boys of each tribe. Troy Cates, who belongs to Shirley, received a ribbon for the fastest time in the obstacle course, winning over 180 boys.

I DON'T KNOW what Shelia and John Hicks do in the winter, but they surely do keep busy in the summer.

Over the July 4th weekend, John, 9, and Sheila, 13, attended a Bicentennial swim meet in the new fifty meter pool at the University of Texas Periman Basin in Odessa.

John's relay team broke two pool records in the 200 medley and the 200 free. The win helped Amarillo Aquatic Club to come in first in team points. He also placed 1st in the 50 free, 4th in the 200 and 100 free, 5th in the 200 individual medley, 6th in the 50 back, and 7th in the 50 breast and 50 fly. (I presume these figures as meters.) Each event had forty to fifty entries.

He also received his AA certificate which makes him eligible to compete in the Texas Age Group Swim (TAGS) in Houston for the state finals. John's age group is ten and under.

Sheila received her A certificate in the 50 free, and her relay team came in 4th in the medley and 6th in the free. She placed 1st in the 200 individual medley and 200 free, 5th in the 100 fly and 100 free. Winners in each event were given Bicentennial coins as awards.

The meet, attracting over 400 participants, is an annual event, but a Bicentennial swim is special.

KAROLYN AND KYLE Farmer have really put the miles on their car. They were gone a week to Uvalde at Garner State Park. No fishing, and they only swam twice since it rained most of the time.

Karolyn told me they played cards and read books and had other "rain" activities, but Kyla, Brenda, Kent, Carl, and Kandi braved the rain to swim.

The children have done their share of traveling too: Brenda is now in San Diego with the First Baptist Church Choir. The group will be gone three weeks and will work with small churches in Bible Schools, performances, and general mission work.

Kent, Kyla, and Kandi are now in Palm Springs for a week visiting relatives. Carl went to Elk City then to Stillwater, Oklahoma for a visit.

After the family returned from Uvalde, off to Hooker, Oklahoma with the Randall County All-Star Team. Kyle was the assistant coach, and Kent, plus five other Gene Howe boys, comprised the team.

Jane and Jerry Davis and Karolyn, with the Davis children Missy and Mindy, went up on Friday to see the game. Saturday, the 17th, was the final game, and our team won 2nd place. The people of Hooker were wonderful and everyone really enjoyed themselves.

Carl's Little League team, the Rangers, won 1st place in their division. Sounds like the Farmers are pretty good ball players!

ROBBIE INGRAM WENT with his cousin in June to the Muscular Dystrophy Camp as an aide. Held at the Episcopal Camp grounds in Amarillo, the camp was for kids from all over the State. They participated in swimming, crafts, and general fun things.

PAM AND CONNIE Martin, Pike and Paige are moving to Vega.

Connie was assistant principal at AHS, but will fill the position of principal at Vega.

We're glad for the promotion, but sorry to lose the Martins from Gene Howe.

DON AND RAYDELL Palmer, Shane and Shonda, plus Darlene Campbell, Kelly and Darla went to Laughton, Oklahoma for the stock car races.

The Palmers sponsor a car — a modified — driven by Eugene Hare of Wichita Falls. The car placed second in the main race, and can also be seen in Amarillo at the races.

EURIS PHIPPS' "WONDER Women" won their division in Kids Inc. Their second loss for this summer was in the tournament held after the season closed. The girls have won 44 of 51 games the past four years, and their record this year was 13 wins, 2 losses.

Actually, they come by all this skill honestly; a post season party for the girls pitted Mothers against Daughters — and the mothers won!

BILLY AND SARAH Edwards, Jay and Shannon returned Monday from an Edwards' family reunion in Lamesa. Shannon reported there was lots of good food, visiting by the grown-ups, and Frisbee by the young ones.

The two-day affair was held in the Community Center with Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Edwards, Billy's parents; Mrs. Prather, Sarah's mother; Billy's four sisters and two brothers — plus any number of cousins, grandchildren, and others joining the fun.

THAT'S IT FOR this week. Hate to remind you, but do you realize that school starts in three weeks? I'm not ready, are you? Have a fun week.

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

Historic film for moviegoers at museum

Movie time for Canyon and area residents will feature the presentation "Proud Rebel" on Sunday afternoon, July 25, in the second floor lecture room of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum.

Open to the public at no charge, the film will star Alan Ladd and Olivia de Havilland with show times set for 2:30 p.m. and 4:10 p.m. on Sunday.

The movie is a tale about the devotion between a father and his son during the post Civil War days in the Midwest. The story tells of a "proud rebel" who travels north seeking medical aid for his son who has been mute since witnessing his mother's death in the battle of Atlanta.

The film is one of a current series being sponsored by the museum for public entertainment. Admission is free.

No notice on hearing

The head of a local protest group aiming barbs at the U.S. Postal Service said Monday he has not yet heard from Dallas officials about a possible citizens' meeting to air the location of a new post office here.

Palmer said he expects to hear soon from the postal service representatives about the date and time for a public meeting on the proposed new postal facility.

Palmer had circulated petitions along 5th Avenue west of the courthouse square two weeks ago after hearing that the postal service plans to build a new post office in the 1300 block of 5th Avenue.

The petitions protested the move and Palmer last week went to Dallas to discuss the plans with postal service officials.

able care and protection of private property; because the agents failed to notify the plaintiff of impending danger to his aircraft; and because the agents failed "to use reasonably prudent police procedure in the apprehension of felons at or before a time that the damage occurred."

Tradewinds Airport is negligent in the incident because it failed to secure all aircraft prior to an attempted criminal act; because it failed to warn the owner of the aircraft of the impending danger; because it failed to keep a proper lookout for property bailed to it; because it allowed its agents to directly aid, abet and participate in a criminal act "for the mere purpose of dramatics;" and because it failed to take proper precautions to prevent damage to the aircraft, the suit alleges.

The civil suit is apparently only the second civil suit filed against Randall County in the county's history.

grand jury dismissed the charge then.

The next grand jury meets August 3 and Sherrod said he would know the week before the meeting if he will present evidence.

Sherrod said persons asking him to investigate included city attorney Elton Cox, a Mrs. Palmer, he thought, and members of the media.

Several other Texas counties have an administrative assistant position. In addition to assistants in urban Dallas and Harris counties, Angelina, an eastern county of about 51,600 population, has had an administrative assistant for nearly a year.

"It's a Godsend to me," said County Judge Claude E. Welch. The assistant helps interview visitors to the judge's office, helps with mental commitment interviews, and, primarily, serves as a liaison between the commissioners court and the local council of governments, Welch said.

The position is funded through the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act, with a maximum of $4.75 an hour or $10,000 a year, plus a $90 car allowance a month.

"He's underpaid for his education," Welch said. "I don't expect he'll stay long."

in the budget.

Total budget expenditures are to be $136,900 with a cash surplus at the close of the fiscal year anticipated to be about $20,000.

The Palo Duro Hospital budget will be prepared prior to an anticipated September budget hearing. The budget will be figured from operating revenues from the hospital.

In other business Monday night, Grimes reported to the board that the district lost $20,000 last year in providing care for Medicare patients. But, he said, the loss cannot be recouped from the federal government and must either be absorbed or be balanced in the future by an increase in income from that source.

The loss resulted from the difference between the cost of providing service to Medicare patients and the payments received by the hospital to cover those costs.

Dr. John Brantley, who is now practicing medicine in Canyon, was officially accepted on the staff of the hospital through board action.

city would reimburse the district about $76,000. Other reimbursements could come as residential customers tied onto the lines.

The figure is above a $80,000 figure anticipated by the board in planning a May bond issue proposal.

Architect B.R. Cantrell of Amarillo told the board Amarillo city commissioners might be willing to waive a requirement that no reimbursements from residential customers could come until the area was annexed into the city limits and that none could be collected after the expiration of five years.

Board President Tom Keeling indicated he will approach commissioners about that possibility.

The board told Cantrell to proceed with plans to include the extension of water and sewer lines from Amarillo mains in the project for the elementary school.

Funds for the extension over and above the amount budgeted will probably be available, Business Manager Ronnie Wood told the board.

Safety rulings reduce kitchen burns, fires

By BECKY HALL
County Extension Agent

Mandatory design changes for safer gas and electric ranges may reduce accidental burns and house fires.

With recent years' emphasis on microwave oven safety, conventional ranges have also come in for closer looks by government and private safety research firms.

New ranges with backguard controls will now have them at least six inches above surface elements. And some manufacturers place the controls on a slope instead of a vertical surface to make them easier to read.

Front surface element controls must be recessed to pass a 'pot-holder-ignition' test, and the controls must involve two steps to be turned on — first pushing and then turning the control — to prevent children accidentally turning them on.

Ranges won't have electrical outlets any more, because it was too easy for electrical cords to come in contact with heat from the surface elements. And the surface units may not heat over 131 degrees F.

These new safety regulations, implemented by Underwriters Laboratory and the American Gas Association, became effective Sept. 30, 1975.

Tilleez™
Processed CATTLE MANURE
Great for this year's crop ...and the next and the next and the next.

Unlike raw manure, Tilleez™ nutrients are available for plant uptake for this year's crop. And, it builds the soil and moisture-retaining capacity for future crops.

Tilleez benefits your soil and gives it improved tilth. The bacterial mass developed in the Tilleez process makes use of the locked-up nutrients, already in your soil, by converting them to readily usable plant food.

And, with all of these advantages, you still get a good supply of nitrogen . . . usable nitrogen!

Tilleez is the result of a unique process of aerobic bacterial digestion that converts raw manure into a valuable soil conditioner and fertilizer. In the big million-dollar plant at Summerfield, aerobic microorganisms create the heat that kills weed seeds and changes the manure into a form that makes its natural nutrients readily available to plants.

Tilleez is a product of the BioCon Division of Searle Agriculture.

Commissioners meet in marathon session

In a session that lasted until nearly 7 p.m. Monday, Randall County commissioners hired an administrative assistant, a new road superintendent, and an appraisal firm and asked an assistant district attorney to find a legal way to give county money to Kids, Inc.

The commissioners held an executive session midway through the agenda in which they interviewed three men for road supervisor.

They hired Herb Hilliard, a Randall County road department foreman, to the supervisor's position vacated several weeks ago by Joe West, who was asked to resign. West was later indicted by the grand jury for official misconduct.

Hilliard will be paid $1,040 a month.

They also hired Carroll Wilson, former News editor, as the county's first administrative assistant. Wilson will make $1,100 a month.

The commissioners, after announcing in closed session they would interview representatives from both Professional Appraisers of Arlington and Southwestern Appraisers from Austin, changed their mind when informed that that would be a violation of the open meetings law.

The commissioners, upset because they could not receive bids in private, complained that opening the meeting to consider bids hamstrung the board to bargain with the representatives and resulted in a higher cost to taxpayers.

They awarded the task to Southwestern Appraisers for $8 per parcel for 29,000 parcels or approximately $232,000. No bond was demanded. Professional Appraisers offered to take the assignment for a lump sum of $232,000, plus a bond to cost $30,000.

The vote to award the task to Southwestern was odd. Commissioner Jim Fletcher moved to hire Southwestern and Commissioner Dee Griffin seconded the motion after a long silence.

With Commissioner Paul Lindsey abstaining because of his opposition to hiring an outside firm, the measure failed to carry.

Then Commissioner John Fulgenzi moved to hire Professional Appraisers, but the motion died needing a second.

Fletcher then repeated his motion approving Southwestern and the motion carried 3-1 with Lindsey again abstaining.

Earlier in the meeting, Jim Simms, president of the youth organization Kids, Inc., met again with the board in a bid to get more money from the county for the program.

Randall County youngsters make up slightly more than 50 per cent of the children in the program, Simms had told the commissioners the week before.

However, assistant district attorney Rick Wilcox, researched the legality of the county donating to private organizations and told the commissioners they couldn't do it.

"The county cannot contribute to a private organization. The county cannot contribute to private individuals and the county cannot lend its credit," he said.

Potter County gives $7,500 to Kids, Inc. by paying part of the salary for director Jim Brock, Simms said. Randall County has been giving $2,200 a year.

The only way that Randall County can put money into the non-profit organization is to pay it for the supervision of juvenile delinquents assigned by juvenile court to the program, Wilcox said.

Arthur Lamb, an attorney and member of the youth group's directors, said: "If you're looking for an excuse not to donate, you can find it in the law. But if you want to contribute more, you don't have to worry about breaking the law."

The commissioners finally tabled the decision and asked Wilcox to meet later with Kids, Inc. officials and juvenile authorities in an effort to sanction a donation.

Wilcox offered to research any other options the commissioners presented him but the commissioners asked him instead to find them a legal way to contribute. Wilcox said Tuesday that he will meet later this week with Lamb to explore suggestions.

In other business, the commissioners approved the role of taxpayers who had rendered, accepted the resignation of Bill Wilson as maintenance supervisor for the courthouse and approved a $25 raise for an experienced clerk working now for $450 a month and to $450 for two newly-hired clerks.

The board of equalization was set for Aug. 9.

At electric camp

Randall County 4-H members and leaders are enjoying the high country of New Mexico this week while attending the annual 4-H Electric Camp sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company. The 4-H'ers are at the Scott Able 4-H Camp, located 28 miles southeast of Cloudcroft in the Sacramento mountains. Those attending from Randall County are, front row, left to right: Larry Hales, Mitchel Carthel and Paul Sammons, County Agent. Standing, l to r, are Rhonda Davis, Hilda Hartman, Debbie Detten and Linda Trammel, leader. The instructor is Mildred Prince SPS employee from Amarillo.

Home demonstration clubwoman and former county extension agent in Lubbock, Mrs. Jim McManigal, discussed modelling tips with Randall County 4-H girls on Monday as the students prepared for the August 2 county-wide 4-H Dress Revue to be held August 2.

4-H clothing records due to agent Monday

4-H clothing records are due Monday, July 26, at the office of the County Extension Agent, Becky Hall.

The 4-H clothing records will be judged in preparation for the August 2 countywide 4-H Dress Revue. The clothing record score will be a part of the overall scoring conducted in the dress revue. 4-H students will also have their garments judged on construction and will receive other points in the modelling portion of the contest.

Open to the public, the countywide 4-H Dress Revue will follow the theme "Bell Ringing 4-H Fashions" with gift certificates to be awarded winners in each of the age divisions, 9-11, 12-13, and 14-19. Winners of each division will be eligible to represent Randall County at the District I 4-H Dress Revue set for August 12 at Amarillo College.

On Monday, the 4-H students who plan to enter the county dress revue received modelling instruction and guidance from Mrs. Jim McManigal of Happy. Mrs. McManigal, a home demonstration clubwoman, is the former extension agent for Lubbock County.

The public revue, August 2, will begin at 2 p.m. in the Farm Bureau Building at Canyon. It is open to the general public with no admission being charged.

Youth flees police in wild night ride

A wild chase by city police and deputies down the wrong way of Highway 87 Monday night ended when law enforcement officers boxed in a youth fleeing in a stolen truck.

Officer David Green spotted about 10:20 p.m. the truck reported stolen earlier in Plainview. He gave chase, joined by other police units and county deputies.

They chased the 16-year-old driver west on Fourth Avenue, north on Farmer Brown's road and east on US 60.

The truck turned north into the southbound lane of US 87, forcing several cars off the road.

"It looked like he was trying to have a head-on collision," Canyon police chief Al Stewart said later. "We had to get him stopped before he killed somebody."

It looked for a time that the somebody might be a policeman as the youth tried to ram the patrol cars that boxed him in with police and sheriff's vehicles at the front, rear and both sides of his truck.

A shot was fired as a warning by deputies and the youth was brought to a halt near Buffalo stadium.

The boy, who was just two days shy of his seventeenth birthday, was handed over to juvenile authorities.

Canyon policemen Green, Mike Ingles, Sgt. Jack McGee and deputies Reedy McDonald and Tommy Sanford took party in the arrest.

Dr. Crowder publishes

Dr. Gene Crowder, head of the West Texas State University Department of Chemistry, has published one paper in a chemical journal and will present another paper at a conference in early August.

"Rotational Isomerism in Fluorinated Compounds: 1,3-Difluoro-2-Propanol" has appeared in the "Journal of Fluorine Chemistry." The paper was co-authored with Douglas Tennant, who earned a WTSU master's degree in chemistry last year.

"This research showed compound to exist in two molecular configurations in solution and in the vapor state, and it is one of few alcohols that are not completely hydrogen-bonded in the pure liquid state," Crowder said.

Crowder will present "Vibrational and Conformational Analysis of Some Alkyl Bromides" Aug. 2 at the 18th annual Rocky Mountain Spectroscopy Conference at the University of Denver.

"This is a study of the molecular structures of these compounds, which exist in several configurations," Crowder said. "The study examines the bonded and non-bonded forces of these atoms."

Crowder co-authored the paper with Mohammed Jalilian, a graduate chemistry student at WT.

Appraisal woes may get worse

If the county commissioners think they've had headaches in hiring a firm to reappraise taxable property in the county, it may be they haven't seen anything yet.

Commissioners checking questionnaires returned by other counties that have recently gone through reappraisal got a clue Monday to later trouble:

"Was the reappraisal well accepted?" read the questionnaire.

"Hell no," one disgruntled official responded.

"Will you employ this firm to do another reappraisal for you?"

The official answered, "I hope in my lifespan, a reappraisal will not be needed."

Peaceful New York surprises delegate

Party unity truly emerged during last week's Democratic national convention as conservatives and liberals lay aside their cudgels to concentrate on winning in November, a Canyon delegate to the New York City affair said this week.

Dave Matthis, a West Texas State University government professor who was elected a delegate supporting Presidential Nominee Jimmy Carter last May, has returned from the convention and proclaims that it was as dull as he'd anticipated.

Matthis, active in local and state Democratic politics for 20 years, attended his first national convention as a delegate last week, and he was probably more surprised at the relative lack of conflict in New York City than the lack of conflict on the floor of the convention.

"I figured everybody would be rude, discourteous and that I'd probably get mugged," he said, noting that he had used a safety pin to safeguard his trousers' pockets. "But, I've never been around more helpful and considerate people — even the policemen and cab drivers. I really got to feeling embarrassed about it."

Matthis was pleased with the unity displayed at the convention and was particularly interested in watching the political manuevers of other delegates, among them Mayor Fred Hoffheinz of Houston and Texas Attorney General John Hill.

Both politicians, Matthis predicted, appeared to be garnering support at the convention for future political forays in Texas politics.

"I was very impressed with Barbara Jordan (Houston U.S. Congressperson) not only because she articulates well, but there was quite a bit of meat in her speech," he said. "I was very pleased with Carter's acceptance speech. He came across real well."

Likewise, Matthis was pleased with Carter's selection of Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale as his vice presidential running-mate.

"I think Mondale will add to the ticket — not here, of course, but in other parts of the country," he said.

Matthis predicts that Carter will have little trouble with the platform hammered out at the convention, a platform which shies away from controversial stands on abortion while calling for a national health program.

"The platform doesn't really say anything," he said. "This time they wised up and it's so general and vague I don't think anybody can get hung on that thing."

For the upcoming campaign against the Republican contender for President, Matthis sees Carter with only one weakness — inexperience in foreign policy matters.

"I think if he has any problem on issues it will be his and Mondale's inexperience in foreign affairs," he said. "And, I don't know any way you get that until you get into office. I'm sure Ford will make a lot out of this."

Matthis, who worked throughout the spring to petition for Carter's name to be placed on the May primary ballot, says he'll take a less active role in the months to come before November.

He said there is still discussion among party leaders and Carter's campaigners about how the national campaign will be organized.

Apology:

TV station retracts story

A news story critical of Canyon police officer Joe Fiola was retracted and an apology was made Tuesday night by an Amarillo television station.

KVII, Channel 7, issued the apology on both the six o'clock news and the 10 p.m. late news show.

Monday night, Canyon KVII correspondent Vivian Madewell, in her report of the city commissioners meeting had said that an investigation of Fiola was still underway by city officials and that he had not been exonerated in an earlier investigation of a complaint made against him by a Canyon couple.

This complaint had been considered in an executive session held by the commission the week before. Following that closed meeting the commissioners had issued a brief statement:

"Based on discussion we have had tonight with the principals involved concerning the complaint, the commission has complete confidence in our entire police department. Since all principals have asked that we talk to other individuals, this will be done."

Following Mrs. Madewell's report on the late news Monday night, city officials complained to Channel 7 that the report was wrong and perhaps malicious as Mrs. Madewell is an outspoken critic of the police department.

John McPherson, acting news director of KVII while Bill Zortman is on vacation, sent reporter Phil Woodall to recheck the Channel 7 reporter's story.

The retraction featured an interview with city manager Glen Metcalf, who said that commissioners had not discussed Fiola at all in the brief executive session Monday night and that as far as the city was concerned, the investigation of the complaint against him was closed.

He read the commission's earlier statement and said that further individuals had been questioned and that the city officials considered their police officer had been exonerated.

"Then obviously the story we ran was incorrect," Woodall said on the air Tuesday night.

"The erroneous report has caused discomfort to the officer, who has received critical telephone calls at night," Woodall continued.

"We feel the officer, the police and the commission acted correctly in this matter," Woodall said. "And we do apologize."

Canyon Police Chief Al Stewart said after the retraction:

"I'm happy the allegations have been resolved and clarified. At the same time, I want to make it clear that the police department is not infallible. That we do make occasional mistakes simply because law enforcement officers are human also.

"I want to thank the citizens of Canyon, our city commissioners and the community in general for their support of the police department effort to combat crime and make Canyon a safe place to live in harmony."

KEEP TAKING THE MEDICINE!

Too often, people will stop taking a medicine because they think that an illness has disappeared. This can be harmful, especially in cases of children who are given anti-biotics to combat an infection. If your physician directs you to give a child a medicine four times a day for ten days, keep giving that prescription until it is all used up.

In studies where medicine was stopped before it was finished, over 20 per cent of the children showed lingering traces of infection, requiring another round of medication.

Pink tapers and a crystal vase holding carnations of the bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and burgandy, centered the table. Crystal appointments were used as the guests were served by Miss Carol Olson, Mrs. Merle Kilpatrick, and Mrs. Fitzgerald, hostesses.

Summer fruits, a selection of cheeses, crackers and punch were served. At the conclusion of the party, each guest read and presented her words of advice to the bride-elect, Miss Whitfield.

The couple's wedding vows will be read Saturday, August 14 at 6 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Canyon.

IN THIS DAY of celebrating the 200th birthday of our country and talking of little else but greatness, I would like to share this little article with you.

"How To Be Great"

Do not try to do a great thing: you may waste all you life waiting for the opportunity which may never come. But since little things are always claiming your attention, do them as they come, from a great motive, for the glory of God, to win His smile of approval, and do good to men. It is harder to plod in obscurity, acting thus, than to stand on the high places of the field within the view of all, and do deeds of valor at which rival armies stand still to gaze. But no such act goes without the swift recognition and the ultimate recompense of Christ.

To fulfill faithfully the duties of your station: to use to the uttermost of gifts of your ministry; to bear the chafing, unthankful and evil; to be content to be martyrs who bore the pillory and stake; to find the one noble trait in people who try to molest you; to put the kindest construction on unkind acts and words; to love with the love of God even the unthankful and evil; to be content to be a fountain in the midst of a wild valley of stones, nourishing a few lichens and wild flowers, or now and again a thirsty sheep; and to do this always, and not for the praise of man, but for the sake of God — this makes a great life . . . F.B. Meyer.

Have a good day!

Mary Neal
